THE STUDENTS' BALL

THE NEW WILLARD, FEB. 4

Arrangements Progressing Rapidly and Success Assured

The Students' Ball, to be held at the New Willard February 4, for the benefit of the George Washington Hospital, promises to be the most successful of a series of successful affairs.

The ladies in charge this year are Mrs. Edward Stevens, chairman; Mrs. Borden, Mrs. Cranford, Mrs. Knapp, Mrs. Lemly, Mrs. Mechlin, Mrs. McKnew, Mrs. Needham, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Seibert, Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Yarrow.

The Students' Ball, since its inauguration, has always stood out in college affairs as the premier event of the winter season, and, judging from the interest already evident among the undergraduates, the ball this year will surpass the efforts of previous seasons. As has been the custom, the President of the Association of Class Presidents will act as chairman of the student floor committee, and the Class Presidents, with one or two additional members of each class, will constitute the remainder. Dr. Sowers will act as chairman of the Citizens' Committee, which has not yet been filled.

The Marine Band has been selected to furnish the music for the evening, and promise a lively program. Efforts have been made this year to have the music as bright as possible, since the ladies in charge realize that much of the success of such an affair depends upon the character of the dances played.

The receiving line, as announced, will be Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Needham, Mrs. Matthew Scott, President of the D. A. R.; Mrs. Theodore Noyes, and Mrs. W. R. Borden. The ball is scheduled to begin at 9 o'clock, supper to be served at 12. It has not been definitely learned in which hall the supper is to be held, but the committee has been assured by the management of the New Willard that providing no banquets are on hand the hall on the first floor can be used, thus throwing open the two parlors on the upper floors for dancing.

Tickets have been placed in the hands of the Class Presidents, and are on sale in The Hatchet office and the Secretary's office. The schedule of dances will be published in the issue of the 3d of February.

BOWEN AND BLAKESLEY

MAKE CALIFORNIA TEAM

Deans Wilbur, Vance and McBain Act as Judges.

As a result of the final preliminary for the selection of the team to debate with Southern California, held Saturday evening, January 15, in Jurisprudence Hall of the Law Building, Messrs. Blakesley and Bowen were chosen as the team, with Messrs. Schreiber and Berry as alternates. The judges were Deans Vance, Wilbur and McBain. Professor Lorenzen presided.

This is the second intercollegiate team of which Mr. Bowen has been a member. Last year he represented this University in the debate with Pennsylvania. He is a Junior in the College of Political Sciences, and is a member of the Enosinian Society.

Mr. Blakesley has never been a member of an intercollegiate team at this University. He was, however, one of the commencement orators last June, and has had considerable experience as a member of the inter-society teams. He received the LL.M. degree last year, and is now taking work in the college. He was formerly a student at Southern California, and now goes back to that institution to debate against it.

As before announced, this debate takes place at Los Angeles, California, during the Easter holidays. We are confident that George Washington's interests will be well protected by these men.

BASKETBALL TO THE FORE

Manager Horn has announced the following schedule of games for the basketball team:

Jan. 22—St. Johns, Annapolis.
Jan. 28—Susquehanna.
Jan. 31—Bucknell.
Feb. 10—Mount St. Mary's.

All these games are to be played away from home. In addition, games with N.Y. C.C., Richmond College, William and Mary, Washington and Lee, and the Temple University of Philadelphia are being considered, with the probability that the majority will be secured.

No captain has as yet been elected, but Mr. Fowler, tackle on the football team this fall, is acting as coach.

Mr. Fowler was one of the stars of the Y.M.C.A. and can be counted upon to fulfill his duties

THE GIRL AND THE PAGE

PLAY FOR CALCIUM CLUB

Call for New Men—Meeting to be Held This Week.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held last week, the committee on selection reported in favor of Mr. P. L. Scantling's book, entitled "The Girl and the Page," as the most suitable for the use of the club this year. It is a musical comedy in two acts with exceptionally good lines and rapid action, and has been considered by those who have read it even better than Mr. Scantling's playlet of last year. Although not all the music has been decided upon, there have been some very attractive songs and choruses submitted by Mr. Scantling and Mr. Irby, and it is the expectation that about fifteen of these will be accepted by the committee for use in the show.

Mr. Scantling, President of the Calcium Club, has issued a call for all new men interested in the organization, not only in character and singing parts, but in the business branches of the club as well, to appear at the next meeting, which will be on Friday, January 21, at 8 o'clock, in West Hall. At this time the play will be read to the club, the music gone over, short trials for the speaking parts held and the organization of the chorus started. There is every reason for success with the experience of last year behind the club and Mr. Scantling again at its head, as well as the energetic Mr. Newhouser as manager, and the re-enlisted services of Mr. Von Esdorf as musical director, whose efficient work was appreciated by all last year. It is earnestly desired to have all the new men interested present at this meeting, as the serious work for the year will be taken up in earnest. At the same time short trials will be held in the adjoining room, where the new men will be requested to show their ability by singing some selections, telling or acting a story, or performing a few steps of a dance. This is the method at other colleges and it is felt that it is the only way to secure men of ability and give all an equal chance. Although this may sound a little difficult for some, we sincerely trust that it will discourage none, and that a good number will be put on Friday; for we have a good show, excellent officers and the best prospects ever entertained.

NATIONAL LAW WINS

BUT JUDGES WERE DIVIDED

Needham Society Unsuccessful in the Annual Debate.

The National Law School Debating Society sent a winning team to debate with the Needham Debating Society of this University last Saturday evening in University Hall on the question, "Resolved, That the establishment of a central bank of issue, under government control, would promote the economic interests of the country." The Needham Society presented the affirmative side of the question, by Messrs. A. F. Millott of Illinois, Arthur J. Kause of Ohio, and Oscar Thompson of Wisconsin. The National Law School, which maintained the negative, was represented by Messrs. John L. McMaster of Delaware, Eustace D. Smith of Kansas, and Joseph M. Young of New York.

The Needham Society advocated that the present system of national banks should be retained, and that the only change in the present system that was called for by the question was the establishment of a central bank to issue bank notes to the various national banks on the deposit of certain securities. This would leave the control of the issue of bank notes in the hands of one bank, which could more readily meet the needs of the country when commerce demanded more currency than the present plan of having each individual bank issue notes. This feature would, they contended, prevent panics, and put our financial system on a stable basis. In support of these arguments they cited the central banks of issue in other countries. They further limited the discussion to the "economic interests," claiming that these words excluded all political and social considerations.

The National Law School debaters contended that political and social considerations were embraced in the word "economic," that such an institution could not be conducted without politics entering into the control of it, and cited as instances the first and second banks of the United States. The size of the country, the want of one principal city, and the characteristics of the people in the smaller banking sections were all repugnant, the negative contended, to a central bank of issue.

The judges were, Charles E. Howe, Treasurer of the American

Security and Trust Company; Owen T. Reeves, Jr., National Bank Examiner, and J. O. Mason, of the Treasury Department.

Hon. John G. Capers, ex-U. S.
Commissioner of Internal Revenue, presided, and made the address of welcome, in which he spoke of the advantages of debating to law students, and as experience and training for aspirants for political honors.

A set of legal classics, presented by John Byrne & Company was awarded to the National Law School as a prize for their victory.

COLLEGE NOTES

There was a Senior Class meeting on Thursday, January 13, to decide several things in connection with the graduation. The subject of the class pin was discussed and a committee appointed. Mr. Schreiber was elected Class Orator; Miss Brackett was elected Class Prophet, and Miss Wilson was elected Historian. The class play, which was written by Miss Taylor and Miss Alden, was read and adopted. After the discussion of several minor matters the meeting adjourned.

Freshman Class Meeting

The Freshman Class of the Department of Arts and Sciences held a busy meeting in Room 26 Tuesday evening, the object being to fill several vacancies among the class officers. The meeting was presided over by the Vice-President, Miss Ellen C. Garlock, as the President, Robert T. Frazier has withdrawn from the Engineering College to enter the Law School. In the selection of a new President several ballots were necessary, but victory finally rested with L. S. Briggs. The Secretary stated that he had received some time ago the resignation of Miss Dorothy B. Munroe as Assistant Treasurer, and it was decided by a vote of the class to leave the vacancy unfilled for the THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1910.

During the mid-year examinations, which take place next week, The Hatchet will not be published. The next issue will appear February 3.

The attack which has been made on the Gallinger-Boutell amendment to the Morrill Act, an account of which appeared in the last issue of The Hatchet is difficult to understand. Much of the opposition has come from President James of the University of Illinois, the largest State university in the United States, and exhibits on its face a hurried, if not grossly negligent preparation, which falls short of easily learned facts.

President James is also chairman of a Committee on a National University of the Association of State Universities, and in his official capacity as such presented a bill to Congress to found a graduate school in the District of Columbia, with an initial appropriation of $500,000, with the proviso that such institution should grant no degrees. In other words, the government was to provide the means for graduate study, without conferring a degree, thus necessitating the return of the student to his State university to receive final recognition. If there is any motive back of the opposition, it must in some way relate to this bill, on the ground that, by granting to the District of Columbia its just and equitable share of the Morrill Acts, the government would probably be little inclined to establish a graduate school such as desired by the State universities.

The value of such an institution we do not propose to discuss, but even admitting its advisability, we fail to see how it can influence or become an issue in influencing action upon the Morrill Acts as related to the District and George Washington. We may be wrong in assuming this to be the motive behind the opposition, but the reasons presented by President James to the House Committee are as a whole so inapplicable as to preclude them from being, per se, the issues involved.

President Needham, in his answer, has ably met the point submitted, particularly the subtle insinuations to the effect that George Washington is a sectarian institution. That George Washington is absolutely non-sectarian and has been for the last five years is so well known, at any rate where this University is known, as to suggest that the State universities in their eager endeavors to defeat the act are catching whatever straws the wind may blow their way.

to the satisfaction of the University. About fifteen men are appearing regularly in the Boys' gymnasium of the Y.M.C.A. practice, which takes place every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 6.30. No team has been selected, but a number of the men have shown sterling ability. Among the best are H. Marsh, a former 'varsity man; Prince, who played in the middle west; Ellis, one of the star back-field men of the football squad; Smith, from the South Dakota Normal School, Applebaum, who is one of the fastest of the squad, and Lucas. In addition, Brusse, Johnston, Hamlin, Parker and Black are making strenuous efforts to be among the first five.

WICKERSHAM TO SPEAK AT WINTER CONVOCATION

Will Be Held at Belasco Theater—Seats in Demand.

President Needham has announced that Attorney General Wickersham will deliver the address at the winter convocation of the University, February 22, at the Belasco Theater.

The University has been fortunate in securing a man of such a national reputation, not only as a lawyer, but in addition as a speaker. The practice of having the addresses on this occasion delivered by prominent men, which was initiated some years ago, has met with wide approval, and has made the winter convocation an event of particular importance.

Even though the 22d of February is still some weeks off, it has been found necessary, by past experience, to notify the students this early, in order that they may have sufficient opportunity in which to secure seats. Tickets of admission will be in great demand on the 22d, so much so that it may be impossible for students to attend unless they place their applications in advance. All such applications should be made to the Deans of the various departments as early as possible. After the authorities have learned the number of students to be present they will allow the general public to secure seats, and it is needless to say that none will be left on their hands.

Arrangements for the convocation are now being discussed and will be announced some time in the near future.

ARCHITECTURE APPOINTMENTS

Professor Bibb of the Architectural School has been appointed acting dean for the remainder of the college year in place of Dean Ash, who has accepted a professorship in the University of Michigan. Mr. Frederic V. Murphy of the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris, has been given charge of design and free-hand drawing (afternoon classes), and Mr. D. Hamilton Smith a graduate of the department has been appointed to instruct in the five orders and elementary design. In addition, Mr. A. L. Harris of the Ecole des Beaux Arts, and a junior member of the firm of Marshall & Hornblower of this city, is giving lectures on building construction.

Columbia is to hold a big indoor track meet in Madison Square Garden, New York, Tuesday, March 23.

Enosinians Lead

The members of the Enosinian Debating Society are justly gratified at the manner in which its representatives in the preliminaries for the Southern California debate have upheld the society's reputation.

Of the twenty-five candidates for intercollegiate honors who participated in the first preliminaries, five were Enosinian men, the remaining twenty being roughly divided between Needham and Columbian Societies. Of these five men, four (Berry, Bowen, Keats and Schreiber) passed the first test.

When the drag-net was cast for the second time, on Thursday, January 6, and seven men were landed, it was found that three of Enosinian's men were still on deck (Berry, Bowen and Schreiber), while Needham was represented by two (Blakesley and Taylor) and Columbian by two (Cohen and Hubbard).

When, on January 15, the long drawn out struggle reached its climax, four men were chosen, and the three Enosinians were among them—Bowen on the team, and Schreiber and Berry alternates.

To be represented by three-fourths of the men winning in the finals, though having only one-fifth of the total number of contestants starting, is deemed a most creditable showing for Enosinian, and an indication that, while small in membership, it is full of the vigorous life, and its members characterized by the fighting spirit, traditional in the society.

Columbian Debating Society

The Columbian Debating Society resumed its work after the Christmas holidays, holding its first meeting of the new year on Friday evening.

All the members are requested to have their photographs taken for the group picture for the "Cherry Tree."

The question for debate for the evening was: "Resolved, That capital punishment should be abolished." The members of the affirmative side were Mr. LeDuc and Mr. Marcus. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Smith upheld the negative side. The debate, which was well contested, was decided in favor of the negative side. Mr. Marcus was declared to be the first honor man.

After the debate there was a lively discussion of the question. Every member spoke under the three-minute rule, showing the general interest taken by the debate. All members are requested to be present at the next meeting, as the election of officers for the second semester will be held at that time.

LAW

The mustachio, trio, Powell, Von Schrader, and Yancey are well under way at last writing.

The dates for examinations in the Law Department have been announced and some students have already begun their preparations. Most of the students, however, for obvious reasons, will be compelled to do all of the reviewing within the time preceding the respective examinations which, in some cases, is very short.

This calls to mind the advice given us repeatedly by several of the professors not to postpone the review work until the last moment. The subject of law is an extensive one. Too much time cannot be devoted to it, and surely no student can expect in the last moments of the semester to clarify to his mind that particular branch of the subject which he did not thoroughly understand when discussed in class or, if he has what to him seems a clear knowledge of the entire subject, to thoroughly review at least his abstracts of the cases and notes thereon during such a brief period.

Let us suggest to those students who have not heretofore followed the advice of professors that they can well do so beginning the next semester. Each one ought to decide for himself on certain review periods—say monthly or semi-monthly—depending perhaps on the subject and its extent. He will find invariably that the results will warrant the time spent for at the end of the semester or year he will not only leave the legal principles clearer in his mind, but at the same time, it will not be necessary for him to crowd the review of a whole year or half year's work into a few moments.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION! Do you realize that there are but seven days remaining in which to get your pictures taken for the "Cherry Tree," the University annual? Do you know that the sub-editor for your department has succeeded in selling only seven tickets entitling students to have their pictures taken by Photographer Buck for the annual? Will seven men satisfactorily represent our department in which fifty-four students are enrolled? Please consider these questions carefully, for I am convinced that this backwardness is only due to thoughtlessness and not to any lack of college loyalty in our department.

The charge for these pictures is 35 cents for Juniors, Sophomores, Freshmen and Specials, and $1.25 for Seniors and Post-Graduates, and the photographer couples with these terms a provision allowing a special reduction to George Washington students for any pictures which they may feel inclined to order for themselves.

Now, the other departments of the college are to be well represented, and we do not want it thought that only seven of our fifty-four men have the true college spirit. So, if you are one of the other forty-seven, get your ticket from the undersigned, and thereby lend the aid of your comeliness toward making this year's annual especially attractive.

PHARMACY

Mr. Jones reports that nearly all the Seniors have had their pictures taken for the "Cherry Tree," even the Editor for The Hatchet seems to be in line. Talk about your Hall of Fame!

We are going to put Louie Harbaugh in vaudeville because he seems to be such an adept performer between the lectures.

Prof. Floyd says that he wants us all to keep our chin whiskers trimmed while employed in a pharmacy in order that we may look neat. Now, how in the world are Wilson, Kenner and Boyd going to do this?

Latest discovery: Dan Payne recently came across a new compound which he calls Arbitrary Alcohol.

We are happy to say that our old friends, McWilliams and Timberlake, have taken the last board exams and have every reason to believe that they made good.

"He that is worth doing is worth doing well," remarked Tewksbury and Hogan as they relieved Judd and Kenner of their surplus cash.

Won't some one take Willis Henderson and Ralph Judd for a sleigh ride? They had to build a skating pond all by themselves last week.

remainder of the year. Secretary Hospital next read a communication from G. W. Hodgkins, who stated that his multitudinous duties made it urgent that he relinquish the position of Class Editor. J. Francis Pevare was then chosen by the class as its representative on The Hatchet. U. C. Wong was elected Sergeant-at-Arms to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of H. W. Hodgkins from that office.

EXCHANGES

The Dartmouth interfraternity council has withdrawn its action against one of the fraternities there for violation of the rules against "chinning," having discovered that practically all the fraternities were guilty of similar violations.
